COMMITTEE TO HAVE WILSON'S COVENANT TEXT

President Insisted on Territorial Integrity to Save the League From Being Debating Society

Republicans Will Vote for Extracting Teeth From Clause in Dispute, Sen. Moses Avers

Washington, July 21—Senate leaders let it be known tonight that it is President's Wilson intention to go to the seat of the Shantung affair with Senator Norris tomorrow. The discussion in the hotel lobbies tonight is divided between the crisis that suddenly has arisen in Mexico and treaty ratification. Advocates of ratification with reservations that the terrific arrangement of the league covenant and treaty by Senator Norris has forced hurried action by the President. His week end trip on board the Mayflower is attributed in some quarters to a flight from Washington, to enable him to quietly prepare a message, which may be delivered in the senate Monday.

Washington, July 21—President Wilson will send to the Senate Foreign Relations committee a copy of his own draft, generally called the American draft, of the league of nations covenant.

Author of Article X
This text will reveal that Mr. Wilson himself is the author of Article X, which has caused more discussion than any other clause of the Shantung provision. The disclosure is further interesting in view of the recent statement of President Wilson that without Article X the league of nations would be mere "debating society." This is the article under which the nations of the league guarantee the territorial integrity of all league members.

Guarded With Secrecy
For reasons which no one explains, the text of the President's league of nations draft has been guarded with the utmost secrecy. Senator Brandegee asked the President for a copy of the night Mr. Wilson had the Foreign Relations committee of the two houses at the White House, on his return from his first trip to Paris. But although the President interposed no obligation at the time, Mr. Brandegee had never been able to obtain a copy.

When the text of the covenant of the league was first given out it was explained in dispatches from Paris that it was virtually the General Smuts, or British plan. President Wilson admitted on his return, at the time Senator Brandegee asked for a copy of the American plan, that it was the British plan which had been adopted.

YOUNG RECOMMENDED AS WOLD'S SUCCESSOR

R. A. Young, deputy governor of the Ninth District Federal Reserve bank, has been recommended by the bank director to succeed Theodore Wold, who recently resigned the governorship to become vice-president of the Northwestern National bank, according to Washington dispatches.

The federal reserve board has the recommendation under consideration, but it is not expected an official announcement will be made until late next week, the dispatches said.

WILL OPPOSE SUFFRAGE

French Senate Body to Report Chamber Bill Unfavorably

Paris, July 21—The electoral committee of the Senate decided to report unfavorably the bill adopted by the chamber of deputies giving the vote to women.

The bill adopted by the chamber of deputies gave women the right to vote for members of the communal and departmental assemblies.

President Wilson Sick in Bed Today

(By United Press)
Washington, July 21—President Wilson is suffering an attack of dysentery and has been ordered to remain in bed today, Dr. Gary T. Grayson, the president's personal physician announced. Dr. Grayson said the attack was not serious and that he hoped the president would be able to continue his work tomorrow. Wilson cancelled the engagements with four republican senators and three others. They will be put over until Tuesday.

Budapest, July 21—The Europa Press announced today Bela Kun, the deposed Hungarian soviet dictator had fled from Budapest to Vienna.

TRADES LEAGUE PLANS CAMPAIGN TO GET SALOONS

Minnesota Branch of A. F. of L. to Educate People Against Prohibition

New Ulm, Minn., July 21—Meeting in conference at Turner Hall delegates to the State Federation of Labor convention which opened Monday, formed a new Minnesota political party. It will be a labor party, known as the Working Peoples Non-Partisan Political league of Minnesota.

Among the principal platform planks are an eight-hour day and public ownership of all public utilities, including banks, elevators, railroads and telegraph and telephone. New Ulm, Minn., July 21—"We will fight prohibition until we are under the sod, where they think they have John Barleycorn now," declared Frank Hoffman of Minneapolis, who was elected president of the Minnesota Trades Union League here today and announced plans for an extensive campaign for the return of saloons. The league, which is a branch of the Minnesota Federation of Labor, now having its annual convention here, adopted a new constitution, which defines the organization's aims as follows:

"Its purpose shall be to carry on an educational campaign against prohibition in all its forms and against the passage of any laws that interfere with the personal liberty or the economic welfare of the working classes." Former Mayor Thomas Van Lear, of Minneapolis, was a prominent speaker at this meeting and asserted that prohibition had been forced upon the people. Mr. Van Lear's appearance in Turner Hall was greeted by prolonged cheering.

In addition to President Hoffman the Trades Union league elected the following officers:

Secretary-treasurer, J. T. Carrier, St. Paul; recording secretary, Jean B. Spielman, Minneapolis; executive board, M. Woodside, Minneapolis, J. Riehn, St. Paul; Pat Flynn, St. Paul, and H. F. Libby, Minneapolis.

A vice president will be elected for each of a dozen Minnesota cities, where the league has local organizations. The campaign against the dry will be financed by a levy of ten cents per member per month on all unions directly connected with the liquor industry with an assessment of 25 cents per month "during campaigns." Other unions are assessed one cent per member per month.

Administration Senators Rail at League Opponents

(By United Press)
Washington, July 21—The common sense of the great mass of the American people will prevail against the prophets of evil who are demanding the rejection of the league of nations, Senator Beckham of Kentucky, today predicted in a speech in the senate. Because all other methods of reducing the danger of war have failed, the American people are willing to try the league, Beckham said, rather than run the risk of becoming involved again in war.

Washington, July 21—Comparing senators who opposed the league of nations to "Hell hounds" and "snakes," Senator Harrison of Mississippi, today delivered a fierce attack on them in a senate speech. Harrison dared republicans opposing the league to make American withdrawal from it the issue in the 1920 campaign. "If you do," he said, "you will hear the voice of the people, republican hopes will be forever shattered and your party ignominiously defeated."

Washington, July 21—The war must be fought over again unless the allied nations provide some means of making Germany keep the peace, Senator Pomerehne of Ohio, declared in the senate in a three hours speech advocating the league of nations.

New Hungarian Government Tyronical

Vienna, July 21—A government more tyronical than that of Bela Kun exists in Budapest. Szecmull, one of the people's commission, seized control.

DULUTH BOY, 15, ENDS LIFE

Left Note Giving Prized Possessions to Young Friends
Duluth, July 21—John Dunlop, 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dunlop, shot and killed himself here. The reason for the act are unknown. He left a note giving a few prized possessions to one of his boy friends. He was a student in Duluth Central high school.

(By United Press)
Paris, July 21—The Austrians were in possession of complete terms of their peace settlement today. There was no ceremony when the terms were handed over at St. Germain yesterday. They were given 15 days in which to file observations.

The financial terms provide the Austrian prewar debt shall be apportioned among various former parts of Austria and that the Austrian coinage and war bonds circulating in the separated territory shall be taken up by the new governments and redeemed as they see fit.

Under the military terms the Austrian army is henceforth reduced to 30,000 men on a purely voluntary basis.

The army shall be used exclusively for the maintenance of internal order and control of frontiers.

Within three months the armaments of the Austrian army must be reduced accordingly to detailed schedules, and all surplus surrendered.

Paragraph eight, relating to reparation says, the allied and associated governments affirm, and Austria accepts the responsibility of Austria and her allies for causing loss and damage to which the allied and associated governments and their nationals have been subjected to as a consequence of the war imposed upon them by the aggression of Austria and her allies.

The amount of damage is to be determined by the reparations commission provided for in the treaty with Germany, which is to have a special section to handle the Austrian situation.

As immediate reparation, Austria shall pay during 1919, 1920 and the first four months of 1921 "A reasonable sum, which shall be determined by the commission."

Three bond issues shall be made, the first before May 1, 1921, without interest, the second at 2 1/4 per cent interest, between 1921 and 1926, and thereafter at five per cent, with an additional one per cent for amortization, beginning in 1926, and a third at five per cent when the commission is satisfied that Austria can meet the interest and sinking fund obligations.

Austria, recognizing the right of the allies to ton-for-ton replacement of all ships lost or damaged in the war, cedes all merchant ships and fighting boats belonging to nationals of the former empire, agreeing to deliver them within two months to the reparations commission.

With a view to making good the losses in river tonnage, she agrees to deliver up 20 per cent of her river fleet.

The allied and associated powers require, and Austria undertakes, that in part reparation she will devote her economic resources to the physical restoration of the invaded area.

As an immediate advance as to animals Austria agrees to deliver within three months after ratification of the treaty, 4,000 milch cows to Italy and 1,000 each to Serbia and Rumania; 1,000 heifers to Italy, 300 to Serbia, and 500 to Rumania; 50 bulls to Italy and 25 each to Serbia and Rumania; 1,000 calves to each of the three nations; 1,000 bullocks to Italy and 500 each to Serbia and Rumania; 2,000 sows to Italy and 1,000 draught horses and 1,000 sheep to both Serbia and Rumania.

Austria agrees to restore all records, documents, objects of antiquity and art and all scientific and bibliographical material taken from the invaded or ceded territories.

She will also hand over without delay all official records of the ceded territories and all records, documents and historical material possessed by public institutions and having a direct bearing on the history of the ceded territories which have been removed during the past ten years, except that for Italy, the period shall be from 1861.

IDAHO WANTS SOLDIERS TO HELP FIGHT FOREST FIRES

Boise, Idaho, July 21—Governor Davis today may ask the war department to assign troops to forest fire fighting in northern and central Idaho, western Montana and parts of Washington as the only means of preventing a disaster like the 1910 forest fire.

Northern Idaho reports of cooler weather had somewhat lessened the fire danger there over night, but the Thunder Mountain fire in southern Idaho was still resisting all control efforts.

Restore to Colors All Courtmartialed Soldiers

(By United Press)

Courtmartial involving charges recognized as a felony by the civil law, are excepted.

GERMAN PACT IS DENIED BY JAPAN

Statement Declares That Only 200 Square Miles of Shantung Will be Taken

Washington, July 21—Katsuji Debuschi, charge d'affaires of the Japanese embassy, today issued the following statement:

"The Japanese government has not entered into any agreement with Germany. At no time since the Germans were driven from Shantung has my government entertained any thought of agreement with Germany on any point. The so-called treaty is of German manufacture, and is merely another step taken to encourage discord between Japan and the allies."

A strong intimation that the Japanese government soon will make an official announcement of its intentions in Shantung was given today at the Japanese embassy here. It was said that the criticism of the senate of Japan's insistence on retaining the former German rights and privileges in Shantung could easily be explained by an official statement from the Japanese premier.

The embassy statement asserted that Japan asks only for the control of Kiaochow, embracing an area of 200 square miles, and that the whole of Shantung province, totalling some 15,000 square miles of territory, was not to be taken. In addition to the Kiaochow district, the joint control with China of the Tsingtao-Tsinan railway is sought by Japan.

Officials of the embassy pointed out that the Japanese government was unable to give actual assurance when the territory would be returned to China for the reason that a mass of data, official agreements dealing with the lease of the territory from China by Germany, and other information must first be placed in the possession of Japan by the German government before any actual transfer of the territory is possible.

Chinese Statement.
New York, July 21—Members of both the Japanese and Chinese delegations to the peace conference arrived today on the Aquitania and Quo Tai-Chi. Chinese technical delegate said:

"It was made in violation of every principle underlying the league of nations covenant and creates a far east Alsace-Lorraine."

"It is true that Japan has promised to return Shantung, but she will return but a shadow and keep the body. She will retain control of the railroads and establish a Japanese settlement which will dominate the region."

"With her fortified positions at Darien, Port Arthur and in Manchuria, she will absolutely control the approaches to Peking, and all of China, and with her Pekin to Tsoin Tao railroad, the Japanese scheme for the absolute control of China will be complete. The weaker allies were sacrificed at the peace table for the stronger and China suffered."

Point Where Tars Were Robbed Three Miles From Tampico 1200 Federal Troops There

Washington, July 21—While the state and navy departments awaited further information in regard to the attack and robbery of a boatload of American sailors from the U. S. S. Cheyenne in the Temesi river, near Tampico, Mexico, July 6, the Mexican government through its embassy informed the state department it would "omit no effort in the prosecution and punishment of those responsible," for the murder of John W. Correll, an American citizen, and the attack on his wife, in the Tampico district last month.

Serious Situation

The message from the Mexican government, replying to representations made by the United States immediately after the attack on the Correll family was reported, however did little to lessen the gravity of the situation existing since yesterday, when news of the attack on American sailors reached the state department.

Officials made no attempt after the message relating to the Correll attack was received to minimize the seriousness of the situation resulting from the assault on the sailors, who were dressed in American uniforms and were in a motor launch at the masthead of which was an American flag.

Punish Slayers.

The message from the Mexican government in the Correll case as made public tonight by Acting Secretary of State Phillips said: "The Mexican government will omit no effort in the prosecution and punishment of those responsible for a crime so odious, in the clearing up of which it will exhaust all means at its disposal."

In regard to the attack on the American sailors, an incident which eclipsed all other matters in the capital today, it is expected the state department after receipt of further details will ask the Carranza government to apprehend and punish the assailants. If unable to carry out this request, according to diplomatic practice, the Carranza government next will be asked to disavow the attack.

U. S. MEN RESENT ATTACKS ON WHITE WOMEN BY BLACKS

Washington, July 21—Following two nights of fighting between whites and negroes in Washington, five negroes dashed past the naval hospital in an automobile shortly after noon today, firing several shots at sailors on the grounds. All shots missed. Citizens pursued, but the negroes escaped. Soldiers and marines will patrol the streets tonight.

Washington, July 21—Soldiers, sailors and marines on liberty in the city, said to have been aroused by repeated assaults on white women by colored men during the last few days, invaded a colored residential district Saturday and one colored man was severely beaten. Several shots were fired before police and provost guardsmen got to the scene.

Several other negroes, one a woman, were caught by the crowd but made their escape with only trifling injuries, though shots were fired at them. The uniformed men participating in the attack were gathered together in the downtown district after individual fights had taken place, and were inflamed, it was said, by reports that another white woman, and the wife of a sailor, had been attacked by a negro.

Crowds Cheering Big Three Leaders After Treaty Was Signed

Thousands journeyed from Paris to Versailles the day the peace treaty was to be signed. When the word spread that the document actually had been signed the enthusiasm of the crowds broke out. This is a scene on the palace grounds. When the leaders of the big three left the palace they were swallowed up in the crowd. Arrows indicate (from left to right) Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau, and President Wilson.

MAN KILLED IN RIVERTON PIT

Riverton, Minn., July 21—A miner killed in the Riverton pit Saturday met death by being buried in a slide. Companions previously had noticed that the life line which this pit worker wore, was not taut by four or five feet. In cases of slide these lines enable the wearer to be swung clear of any falling debris.

When the fall occurred the slack line proved of no benefit to the worker and he was buried, one hand showing up. Men and machinery worked frantically to dig him up and he was pulled out in a short time, but had been suffocated.

WOMAN'S REALM

Minnesota Plan of Soldier Aid Urged

Some States Fail to Provide for Welfare of Returning Troops

Minnesota's system of meeting its returned soldiers at the port of debarkation and keeping in touch with them until they have positions and are settled in civil life, is being urged on other states by those who visit the Hall of States in New York.

Minnesota uses her fund to see that the boys are properly welcomed when they arrive in New York, but the names of all those who have not employment in sight are forwarded to Governor J. A. A. Burnquist and the work of finding positions is begun.

Many States Fail to Provide

The Hall of States is a large building maintained by the War Camp Community service and each state has offices there.

Massachusetts, Illinois and the Dakotas have made appropriations under which bonuses are paid to the soldier who is about to be released from the service. The North and South Dakota rooms at the Hall of States are supported by the grand lodge of Masons of the state, the Utah room is maintained by the Red Cross, while the headquarters of Idaho, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, and Wisconsin have at their disposal amounts appropriated by their state legislatures. This still leaves, however, many states where no provision whatever has been made for the homeless soldier.

The popularity of the Minnesota room at the Hall of States, for instance, where every man wearing a uniform and the insignia of one of the state regiments can find entertainment, news from home and expert advice on finding employment, is demonstrated by the increased attendance registered at the Minnesota desk. The daily list of visitors is rarely less than 100.

Funds are Necessary

The necessity for state funds to care for soldiers as they are sent back from France was discussed by a member of one of the committees in charge at the Hall of States.

Every Boy Cared For.

The Minnesota funds are assigned primarily to care for Minnesota boys, consequently every man from the state who visits the Women's committee at the Minnesota room is well looked after. Soldiers from other parts of the country are not always so fortunate, however, and so an appropriation for every state in the union to carry on the work at the Hall of States is being urged.

Among those recently registered at the Hall of States were Carl T. Bersagel of Lanesboro; J. A. Maleint, Minneapolis; C. W. Phillips, Willmar; Frederick H. Jones, St. Paul; E. J. Relf, St. Paul; Elmer E. Bertsen, St. James; H. J. Martin, Minneapolis; W. D. Miller, Mankato; J. J. Kelley, St. Paul; P. J. Brick, St. Cloud; Melvin J. Tollefson, Minneapolis; Sanford Steen, Thief River Falls; Charles R. Clear, Minneapolis; Frank Ross, Duluth; Walter Carey, Minneapolis; Robert E. O'Neill, Minneapolis; Fred E. Carlton, Brainerd; Clarence L. Olson, Minneapolis; Carl C. Pederson, West Duluth; Jesse Brown, Minneapolis, and Edgar V. Roberts, Pipestone.

Methodist Aid

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church will hold their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon in the parlors of the church. The entertaining ladies are Mrs. Wm. Sasser and Mrs. Frank Lyons. The aid will have an experience social at this meeting, the members earn a dollar and tell how they earn it. All members are urged to be present and visitors are always welcome.

Guiding Star Society

The Guiding Star society of the Bethlehem Etangelical church will meet Tuesday evening at the home of Otto Gartner.

Meat Prices too High

Washington, July 21—In urging federal regulation of the meat packing industry, Clarence Ousley, acting secretary of the department of agriculture, pointed to the difference now being paid by the packers for live stock and the very high prices demanded of the consuming public for beef products. The federal official shifts the blame for present conditions to the retailer.

Right Definition of a Classic.

A classic is properly a book which maintains itself by virtue of that happy coalescence of matter and style, that innate and exquisite sympathy between the thought that gives life and the form that consents to every mood and of grace and dignity, which can be simple without being vulgar, elevated without being distant, and which is something neither ancient nor modern, always new and incapable of growing old.—Lowell.

A Great Advantage.

The principal of a college was lecturing his staff of teachers upon efficiency. "What," he demanded, "would be thought of a glove-maker who at the close of the season found 10 per cent of his stock returned because it fell below standard requirements? Why should we require a 100 per cent efficiency of the glove-maker and only 90 per cent of a teacher?" "Because," responded a teacher, "he can select his kids!"

Temper and Tight Collars.

Dr. Leonard Williams, lecturing on "Common Sense," at a nursing conference and exhibition in London, said that people with tight collars did not drain their brains properly, and often suffered from bad tempers. He had noticed that since women had given up high collars and were wearing garments which gave complete freedom to the neck they had become sweeter tempered.

Not Meant for Household Pets.

If taken young the grizzly bear is easy enough to handle, for at birth he weighs only from 10 to 20 ounces and is about the size of a full-grown chipmunk. Later the bears run between 350 and 600 pounds in weight, although they have been known to reach 1,500 pounds. This, of course, makes the domestication of grizzlies by apartment house dwellers difficult.

No Wage Increases

Washington, July 21—Congress has passed several large appropriation bills without making provision for wage increases of government employees. This includes the customs branch of the treasury department, custodian force in public buildings, immigration, fisheries and penitentiary guards and attendants.

You Need Not Travel

It is safe to say that as many persons have secured relief from hay fever and asthma at home by taking Foley's Honey and Tar as have been benefited by going to health resorts. It heals and soothes the choking, "stuffed-up" sensation. Good for all colds, coughs and croup. Contains no opiates. H. P. Dunn. mwf

DAWN

By JACK LAWTON

(Copyright, 1919, Western Newspaper Union)
Jerome Barris in the hour of his great success was but a disillusioned, disappointed man. Still young, and having won the golden key to favor, he drew back wearily before those doors it might open.

During his years of struggle and need none of these friends, who now so eagerly strove to share his triumph, had made an effort to stretch forth a helping hand. Even the girl whom he had so deeply loved and who had professed to return his love had grown weary waiting and had heartlessly jilted him for an acknowledged man of the business world.

Now that the dream of Jerome Barris was realized he smiled cynically at this same woman's proffered notes of reconciliation—his former love had become a widow, but her charm for him had vanished before her insincerity, and all this superficial adulation now wearied him. He longed to get away from it, to get back to a certain spot which had often been his refuge.

To Barris this small place, with the sea stretching out before, was home, his one sure haven.

It was here that his great picture was born—the picture which had won for him fame and fortune. Years ago, when his heart was sore with its disappointment, he had gone, after reading the announcement of the one girl's marriage, to the seclusion of this little house, there to shut out from curious eyes his deep hurt. And when at sundown he sat upon the tiny porch a boat had come drifting down a golden beam toward him. And in the boat sat a very young girl. Unbound, her golden hair rippled over her shoulders, and her upraised face was glorified in the light. Barris called his great picture "Maidenhood."

Impulsively he had called her as she drifted by, and had run down to draw her boat in to the shore. The girl, who was perhaps fourteen or fifteen years of age, acceded readily to his request that she pose thus again for a picture. "I'll make the arrangement with your people," Barris suggested.

"I have no people," the girl told him, and as she went on with the strange story of her own life he knew what had brought the shadow to her young eyes. She had been washed to the shore in a boat tossed upon a stormy sea before she was old enough to remember anything about it. A man and woman found drowned later were thought to have been her parents, but she had never known. A fisherman finding the child carried her to his wife who had befriended her, until as the girl grew and the wife became an invalid the charge was transferred.

They called her "Dawn," the girl told him blushing, because it had been at dawn that the fisherman found her.

And as days passed and Dawn came to pose for the artist he learned more and more of the hard incongruity of a young life which longed for great things and must be satisfied with common duties. Dawn's heart was full of music and her mind yearned for knowledge.

When upon his return later from the city Barris learned from his old housekeeper that Dawn's invalid charge had died he sent at once for the girl and bade her make her home in his house on the shore, arranging passage for her to and from a school in the adjoining village and finding her a music teacher there. Then in the absorbing occupation of his city studio the artist forgot about the little girl, who never ceased to think of him with reverent adoration.

Barris, long absent from the house by the sea, sought it out again after one of his trips abroad and learned from the old housekeeper that his protegee had secured a position as teacher in a nearby village and left word that he would hear from her later.

The artist smiled and frowned. "She should have allowed me to complete her education," he said. Then his pleased eyes fell upon the inviting furnishing of his beloved old room.

"You keep the place up well," he commanded his housekeeper.

"That's Dawn," the woman replied; "she comes out here and sees that things is all new an' convenient. 'We must keep it home—for him,' she says."

After that came to the artist regularly small checks in the name of the village bank, with notes in a girlish hand.

"Of course I can never repay what you have done for me," wrote Dawn, "this is just to assure myself that I would if I could."

And at length, wearied by labor and sufficed with flattering attentions, came to Barris a longing wish for the restful house by the shore. And when he reached it at sundown, sailing again across the golden water toward him, came the girl who had made his great picture. Standing on the sands at her side he told her so.

"You speak of repaying your debt to me," said Barris. "My dear girl! do you realize that it is I who am indebted to you?—for my success, for the very comfort of home, for a belief in truth and goodness which had almost forsaken me? Why, you have given to me every good gift—save happiness."

"And I wish I might give you that," said Dawn.

"I hope—I believe—that you will," Barris answered softly, and they looked into each other's eyes.

JUST A LITTLE SMILE

Taking It Up Direct.

Dealer—That old woman brought more eggs to market today and I told her the ones she brought last week were bad.

Clerk—What did she say?

Dealer—Said next Saturday she would bring her hens and I could speak to them about it personally.

Reform.

"He's a modern reformer."

"That so?"

"Yes, he's out to reform the reformers."

"In what way?"

"He's trying to educate them to discover that not everything the other fellow gets some fun out of is wholly wrong."

Explanation.

"How do you account for comets and meteors?" inquired the girl who wanted to seem scientific.

"Now and then," replied the professor who wanted to seem frivolous, "the music of the spheres attempts a little jazz."

Dear Simplicity.

"Why don't those grand opera stars accumulate more money?"

"Their expenses are heavy."

"Eh?"

"I've seen one wearing a milkmaid's costume that must have cost two thousand bones."

An Alibi.

The Boss—I am sorry, sir, but I find we won't be able to give you a job. You seem to be very deficient in arithmetic.

The Applicant—I knew it! I knew it! It's pa's fault. I told him he had no business to send me to a grammar school.

SUSPECTED IT.

"The people in the flat below bought their piano at auction."

"I suspected as much; it's going, going, going all the time."

Realism.

I much prefer the realist. Who tells and doesn't shrink. To the benign idealist. Who thinks and doesn't work.

Adaptability.

"Have you ever thought of organizing in this prison an emergency corps from the pickpockets?"

"No, but why especially of them?"

"Because they are a class notoriously good at a pinch."

No Security.

The Clothing Salesman—Here's a nice feature, a change pocket with a button to prevent losses.

Mr. Longsufferer—Haven't you one with a combination lock? My wife knows how to unfasten a button.

Elucidation.

"Say, Mamie, you've been in business; tell me what's a preferred creditor?"

"A preferred creditor, Maggie, is one that don't dun you to pay your bills."

Its Kind.

"The what-to-have-for dinner discussion I had with my wife—"

"Well, what of it?"

"Was in the nature of a joint debate."

High Cost of Cooking.

"How much do you pay a cook?"

"The wages don't figure to so much," replied Mr. Crosslots. "The real expense comes in bribing one to leave a neighbor."

Feminine Logic.

He—Give a reason for anything you believe. Now, why do you think 13 is an unlucky number?

She—Because it brings you bad luck.

In Suspense.

"Fatched up peace with your wife as yet?"

"Not quite. My ma-in-law, my wife and her two sisters are discussing the terms."

One Way or the Other.

"Meat is terribly dear! Meat 50 cents a pound!"

"But think how cheap money is, with a 50-cent piece worth only a pound of meat!"

NORTHWEST NEWS

New Rockford, N. D., July 21—After nearly three years of inaction New Rockford is continuing the campaign for removal of the North Dakota capital from Bismarck to this city.

A strenuous fight to get the issue on the ballot was made in 1916, but failed through decision of the supreme court that the initiative amendment to the constitution was not self-enacting. That decision has since been reversed, and further a new amendment was put into the constitution last fall simplifying the method of procedure. The New Rockford boosters waited until the recent referendum was out of the way, and now are starting out with renewed vigor and determination to not only get the proposition on the ballot, but to carry the state at the general election next fall.

Fargo, N. D., July 21—Fargo today passed into the hands of the world war service men and will remain theirs until noon tomorrow. Everything is free to the uniformed men and every citizen of the city was willingly drafted into the entertainment committee.

The thirty thousand warriors being entertained here today are not only the men of Fargo and Cass county, but any soldier, marine or sailor, who served in the American or allied armies and who could get to Fargo for the day. Delegations are here from Jamestown, Grand Forks, Valley City, Bismarck, Beach, Hillsboro, Devils Lake, New Rockford, Williston and Minot. Special trains were run from many parts of the state.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., July 21—A reception under the auspices of the Red Lake County Jefferson Highway association and Red Lake Automobile club was held here yesterday to greet the tourists making the Jefferson Highway sociability run from New Orleans to Winnipeg.

Fargo, N. D., July 21—Premiums totalling $17,000 are to be distributed during the Inter-state fair which opened here yesterday.

Special attention has been given to livestock exhibits and never before have reservations been made as early or been in such great demand.

Dr. E. A. Sheer of Duluth, will award the ribbons in the baby show for which 125 North Dakota babies are contenders.

The boys' and girls' clubs of the state, pronounced by agricultural experts as the greatest guarantee of better farming in North Dakota, have been given prominent places for their displays.

More than half a hundred horses are entered in the race for which $2,700 in premiums will be awarded. Auto races will feature the closing days and auto polo teams will stage several exhibitions.

Printers Raise Wages

Dayton, Ohio, July 21—The Typographical union has advanced wages of members employed on evening newspapers to $36 a week. For morning newspaper work the new rate is $39.

JUDGE CHARGES CROSBY MAN WITH PERJURY

Otto Bjorklund Will Face Trial as Result Testimony in Berg Trial

Berg Was Tried for Violation of the Indian Liquor Treaty

(Duluth News Tribune)

A bench warrant has been issued by Judge Page Morris in United States district court for the arrest of Otto Bjorklund of Crosby on a charge of perjury. The court order was directed immediately following the verdict of guilty returned by the jury in the case of Fred K. Berg, tried for alleged violation of the Indian liquor treaty. Bjorklund was a witness for the defense in the trial.

United States District Attorney Alfred Jaques was instructed by Judge Morris to prepare an indictment for the next session of the grand jury next January. Bjorklund, who is now confined at the county jail, will be given his preliminary hearing before a court commissioner tomorrow.

Berg was sentenced to a term of four months imprisonment in the Aitkin county jail with a fine of $100. After the sentence had been pronounced Berg's attorneys, O. J. Larson of Duluth, and G. S. Swanson of Brainerd, filed a notice of a motion for a new trial. Under this notice a stay of execution until Oct. 11 was granted.

Trial is Postponed

The trial of Nick Perbenich, Bob Minervich and Joseph Robonovich which was started, was adjourned until Monday. The trio are charged with illegal traffic in liquor under the provision of the Indian treaty. The adjournment was taken at the request of Victor Power of Hibbing, counsel for the defense, who asked the court that he be permitted to go home to cast his vote on the school election. Judge Morris said that he would adjourn the court in order to give resident voters of the county connected with this term a chance to cast their ballots.

Physician and Daughters Eat Millions of Germs

Doctor Who Challenged World to Prove Bacteria Produced Disease Hides on Vacation

The Opinion is That He Will Not Accept St. Paul Medical Man's Test

Toronto, Ont., July 21—Dr. John E. Fraser, who challenged the medical world to prove that germs are the cause of disease appears to have left that world to its own musings on the subject, now that Dr. H. W. Hill of St. Paul has accepted the challenge.

Inquiry at his home yesterday put the quietus on the subject for two or three weeks, for Dr. Fraser has left for his vacation to the north, and will not return until the first or second week in August.

And so the world must wait to find out whether he will accept the acceptance of his challenge. Toronto deems it unlikely that he will. In the first place, it is not thought he will be able to spare the time to journey to St. Paul to face the germs he has scoffed at, accumulation of work being spoken of as the reason.

Added to that it would seem that his family is rather disinclined. Mrs. Fraser does not believe her husband will accept. It is quite possible he will stick to his guns, however.

In the meantime leading physicians here are having their inning on the controversy, declaring his defiance of disease germs, and his expression of contempt for immunization are "too ridiculous to be noticed," and that he "is seeking publicity."

Conducted Exhaustive Experiments

Dr. Fraser, should he accept, will use "natural therapeutics," fresh air exercise and selected foods, to throw off the disease as against his opponents' anti-toxin. Prior to leaving for his vacation Dr. Fraser stated that his daughters, Miss Maud Fraser and Miss Bata Fraser, and himself have infected themselves hundreds of times with diphtheria, typhoid, meningitis, pneumonia and tuberculosis germs during the past five years and never once have they developed any disease.

"It is my contention from experiments that germs are comparatively harmless and I hope thus to relieve some of the superstitious fear which many people feel where germs are concerned," said Dr. Fraser. "Some years ago I first swallowed 50,000 diphtheria germs in water and watched my health carefully, but no disease resulted. Diphtheria germs were chosen first because in acconite

Type of Farm Americans make in Western Canada

Lord Shoughnessy. An American who found success in Canada

The closeness of social and commercial relations between Canada and the United States is indicated by the ever-increasing number of Americans who are seeking homes in the great farming districts of the prairie provinces of the Dominion. In the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba alone there are 580,212 Americans. This is more than the total population of Alberta, which is 579,000. In Alberta, nearly half the population, 275,000 to be exact, are of American birth. The British born residents being about a third of this number. In Saskatchewan there are 226,330

Americans, and in Manitoba 78,789. Last year about 10,000 Americans came to Alberta, which was the low democratic laws and institutions, est number in thirteen years, except fair play, reform movements of the in 1915, when the number was 6,255. With the war over, it is expected that the influx will resume its former proportions, which averaged there are many Americans already about 25,000 a year, the top figure being reached in 1909, when a record of 34,563 was established. The number of resident immigrants other than British or American born is about 40,000 and practically no more are coming over. Now, in peace, they still stand shoulder to shoulder and They find in it the same aggressive, enterprising spirit which characterizes the United States. there is a reliable remedy should the disease show signs of developing. Growing bolder, I took 150,000 diphtheria germs in milk and felt no ill effects. Again I took 1,000,000 germs in my food and then several millions were swabbed in my mouth and nostrils.

"Miss Maud and Miss Bata repeated the act of experiments and did not suffer the slightest ill health. Others tried the germ diet and in all forty-five tests were made with diphtheria germs. Fifty similar tests were then made with typhoid germs, twenty with fresh, vigorous pneumonia germs, swabbed in the nose and the throat, twenty more with millions of tuberculosis bacteria taken in water, bread, meat, cheese, porridge and butter, and no disease appeared.

"As theoretically meningitis germs develop mainly in the mucous membranes of the nostrils, special pains were taken to swab the nostrils with millions of meningitis germs. Other millions were swabbed over the turbinate bones and still other millions applied to the throat, tonsils and tongue.

All Efforts Fail

"In addition to local applications, more millions were incorporated in water, milk, bread, meat, potatoes and cheese and every chance given them to develop, but without success."

At the Best Tomorrow

One of the outstanding features of Manager Workman's picture program at his house this season will be the presentation at the Best theatre tomorrow of Marguerite Clark's latest Paramount photoplay, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." The rights to picture this famous story were obtained by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation at great expense, but the superiority of the production attests fully to the wisdom of the selection.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was written by Alice Hegan Rice and dramatized by Anne Crawford Flex.

MARGUERITE CLARK in 'Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch'

It was first presented at the Savoy Theatre, New York, September 2nd, 1904 by Hugh Ford, who for some time past has been prominently identified with the producing department of the Famous Players-Lasky organization. The comedy was in three acts and embraced all the high spots of Alice Hegan Rice's famous story deftly woven into a connected plot, which, however, centered about the parentage of Tommy, the youngster which "Lovey Mary" brought along with her when she unceremoniously left the confines of the orphan asylum.

The homely humor and the unusual heart interest made it one of the most successful plays in many seasons and following its run in New York it enjoyed equal popularity on the road. Madge Carr Cook appeared in the role of Mrs. Wiggs and Mable Taliaferro was Lovey Mary. In the picture version Miss Clark is supported by capable players, including Gareth Hughes, Mary Carr, Viva Ogden, Jack MacLean, Robert Milash, Maud Hosford and others. The adaptation was made by Eve Unsell and Hugh Ford was the director.

RESIGNS TO GET JUSTICE FOR SOLDIERS

New York, July 21—Brutal treatment of American military prisoners in Paris was brought up with a sudden check when Mrs. Woodrow Wilson first heard of it, according to John W. Kehoe, a hospital superintendent of the Knights of Columbus who has just returned from France.

Washington, July 21—Lieut. Col. Samuel T. Ansell, former acting judge advocate general of the army and the central figure in the controversy regarding military justice, has handed his resignation to Secretary Baker.

Colonel Ansell is understood to have taken this action in the hope that he might bring forcibly before the public the fight which he is making to have the rules of military trials radically changed. He has maintained in hearings before congressional committees, and in speeches before law organizations, that under present conditions a private in the army could not hope for a fair trial.

Secretary Baker would not say what action he would take on Col. Ansell's resignation.

Colonel Ansell will continue his campaign against alleged court-martial injustices as a member of a law firm with offices in Washington and New York.

He asked that his resignation be "put through immediately." The resignation itself was one line, saying:

"I hereby resign as an officer of the army."

WHEAT PRICE TO STAY UNTIL AUGUST FIRST

The United States Grain corporation notified its zone agents throughout the country that there will be no advancing premium over the guaranteed price of wheat imposed by Wheat Director Julius Barnes before Aug. 15, since the movement from farms does not warrant the increase, and the grain corporation has been able to make only small purchases. On that date the director, following another review of the situation, will make an announcement concerning the premium.

The order under which all persons dealing in wheat products, with the exception of farmers and small bakers, must operate under federal license became effective recently. Any dealer who operates without license will be subject to a penalty.

New Road to Open Alaska

(By United Press)
 Juneau, Alaska, (By Mail)—"The Alaskan railroad, now 75 per cent complete, will be of wonderful benefit to Alaska in improving industrial conditions, and thus will the whole Pacific Coast be benefited by increased trade," declared Thomas Riggs, Jr., Governor of Alaska today.

The Governor nailed as false the charges that lax methods are being used in constructing the road.

"The road is being well and economically constructed, no matter what ulterior-motive attacks have been made thereon," he said.

The railroad extends from Seward, an ice-free port to Fairbanks—a distance of 471 miles. Necessary branches bring the total mileage to over 550, according to Riggs.

"When complete, the railroad will serve a long-felt want," said the Governor. "It may not for years pay maintenance and operating charges, but it will gradually open up a territory rich in mining and farming opportunities. Two coal fields are tapped. The principal one—the Matanuska field—holds promise of being an export field for high grade bituminous coal, in which the Pacific coast is lacking. The Nenana lignite field will supply the interior country with fuel for industrial and domestic purposes, displacing wood, which is rapidly disappearing from around the more settled districts.

"Not the least function performed will be found in cutting down of time consumed in travel and in constant service rendered. As it is now, it takes freight about a month to travel from Seattle to Fairbanks, and this only during the season of open-river navigation. With the railroad in operation freight will land in Fairbanks within a week from the date of shipping. There will be no large stocks on hand subject to market fluctuations, deterioration, insurance, overstock and loss. High prices will be reduced by the elimination of such unfavorable factors, and a constant supply of reasonable supplies is assured. A dredger now, in case of a breakdown, with no spare part at hand, for instance, must close his operations for the season and lay off a crew, perhaps brought all the way under pay from the states. With the railroad operation, within a week the part can be replaced and the boat placed once more in operation."

Governor Riggs emphasized the immense distances involved. "Imagine all the states east of the Mississippi river as being without a railroad," he said, "dependent almost entirely upon navigable waters as highways with a source of supply in England. You can include in your picture a wagon road impossible for a part of the year between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and a 'jerk-water' railroad between Baltimore and New York. It was conditions like these that caused the Secretary of the Interior to take up and push through the Alaska railroad project."

Lawyers Warned

New York, July 21—The appellate division of the supreme court has warned lawyers that they will be punished if they attempted to collect compensation for injured workers on a 50-50 basis.

The court says that any attempt to secure a larger fee than that permitted by the state compensation commission is "improper, unethical and deserving disciplinary action."

BRAINERD WELCOMES MILL CITY TOURISTS

Steps Taken to Entertain Visitors at the Night Control in Brainerd July 25th

SOCIAL AMUSEMENTS PLANNED

Band to Play if Possible Friday Evening Instead of Wednesday, Garage Men Mobilized

Brainerd will entertain the members of the McGarry-Walker auto tour from Minneapolis to Walker on Friday evening, July 25th, and a letter received by the Chamber of Commerce indicates that there will be at least one hundred visitors in the party. They will leave Minneapolis Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock, July 25th, arriving at St. Cloud at 12 o'clock noon and will be piloted from that city to Little Falls, where they expect to arrive at 6 p. m.

After the cars have been parked here and arrangements made for rooms, the visitors will spend the evening in a social way and some form of entertainment will be planned for them. They write that they hope to have several cars from Brainerd join the party Saturday morning and make the trip to Walker with them. This tour is in honor of Senator McGarry. Brainerd should be interested in it on account of the good work for road improvement he has accomplished.

A meeting of the automobile committee and other active workers in the Chamber was held at the office of the secretary today and plans will be rushed as rapidly as possible to leave nothing undone for the entertainment of the largest touring party that has ever visited Northern Minnesota from the Twin Cities. For the entertainment of the visitors it is planned to have community dancing on the pavement near Gregory park, if arrangements can be made with the band to play that evening. Instead of their regular open-air concert night. This will be taken up with the director and manager of the band this evening. If this is not possible, the visitors will have an opportunity to visit Lum park, where dancing may be enjoyed, but it is hoped by the committee that arrangements can be made to entertain them down town for a time at least, in order that they may see Gregory park, hear the band, and enjoy meeting local people. Every town along the line will make extra preparations to entertain this touring party and as Brainerd has been honored with their night control, it is expected that the committee will be given every co-operation in the plans for a pleasant evening for them here.

Ernest Butler, of the Ransford and W. B. Harrison of the Harrison hotel, were called into the conference this morning, as the housing problem is an important one. The garage men will take full charge of caring for the autos and the house and social committee of the Chamber will assist in the entertainment of the visitors. It is hoped that citizens will appreciate the importance of this tour and the entertainment of the visitors and when men are called upon to assist in the details they will respond promptly. Further announcement will be made in the Dispatch Tuesday evening.

REV. ERRINGTON'S VITAL MESSAGE

Interest is Excellent and Congregation Large in Outdoor Worship Held Sunday Evening

GREGORY PARK IS THE SCENE

South Side Worshippers Center in Community Church Held on the High School Lawn

Another splendid congregation assembled in Gregory Park last night to worship and to hear Rev. Frederick Errington deliver the message of the evening. The interest was excellent and the venture of having union outdoor services is proving surprisingly successful.

Those who have accused the ministry of lack of positiveness in their messages would have had to change their opinions had they heard the sermon last evening. Rev. Errington is positive that the gospel of Jesus Christ is the only solution for the social and industrial problems of the day and is most positive and convincing in his manner and words.

Rev. Errington has not been in Brainerd but a few months but he has won many friends by his frank and sincere messages.

Rev. C. B. Hilton, who was pastor of the First Baptist church about eight years ago, will be the speaker next Sunday evening. He comes to visit his old friends and as the Baptist church is with the union movement he will speak in the evening.

CROSBY WITHDRAWS FROM THE LEAGUE

Protests Afternoon Game With Iron-ton on July Fourth

Something new in league annals in Central Minnesota was the appearance of a lawyer with the Crosby baseball club director and secretary at the Central Minnesota League directors meeting Sunday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Crosby was loaded with protests, affidavits, etc.

The directors first tried conciliation. They sustained President Charles Sylvester's action on the morning game, Fourth of July, played at Iron-ton and awarded it to Crosby 9 to 0.

The directors declared legal the games hitherto played with Staples. That division town never won a game while in league company and beating Staples was as easy as taking candy from a kid. Crosby romped through two such games, beating Staples 11 to 0 and 18 to 0. Iron-ton, on the other hand, had never played Staples, as they fell out of the schedule before Iron-ton reached them.

The directors passed over the delinquency of Crosby in being the last one to deposit a forfeit fee of $100, weeks after the time limit, such deposit being intended mainly as a guarantee that games be played according to schedule and the league kept intact.

Attorney Francis E. Murphy acted as spokesman for Crosby and stated the eventual acceptance of the $100 June 22 acted as a waiver of that point in the bylaws which specified the money should be put up by May 29.

"Otherwise," said Attorney Murphy, "Crosby has carried out every requirement of the bylaws and rules." He then read a lengthy affidavit stating "Babe" Clemmens, Iron-ton's star pitcher, was not a resident of Iron-ton but of Iron-dale township, living just outside the limits of the village of Riverton.

Clemmens was one of the men on Iron-ton's home player roster filed early in the season and Crosby never protested any one while their team headed the league, seeming to wait on the protests until they slipped from first place.

A further protest was made that

Iron-ton used four outside players in violation of the bylaws of the league.

The Crosby baseball club then asked that the game as played on the afternoon of July 4th be awarded to the Crosby team for the violation of the bylaws by the Iron-ton team or in the event of the refusal of the board of directors so to do that such game be declared null and void and a new game be played in place thereof on the Crosby grounds and in the event that the Iron-ton team refused so to do that under article 14 of the bylaws of this league the Iron-ton baseball club forfeit the sum of $100 in the hands of the secretary-treasurer.

On the motion that the afternoon game stand as it is, with Iron-ton winner over Crosby, the vote was almost unanimous in favor of the proposition the one lone vote recorded against it being Crosby.

"And are you going to protest the Verndale game too?" asked a director.

"Yes, we intend to," said Attorney Murphy.

NEW SCHEDULE OF CENTRAL MINN. LEAGUE

Directors quickly arranged this schedule for the rest of the league season:

July 27—Iron-ton at Little Falls. Verndale at Brainerd.
Aug. 3—Little Falls at Brainerd. Iron-ton at Verndale.
Aug. 10—Verndale at Little Falls. Brainerd at Iron-ton.

He then filed a statement wherein Crosby asked to withdraw from the

LABOR NEWS

International Labor
to Confer in Holland

New York, July 21—President Gompers and A. F. of L. Treasurer Daniel J. Tobin have sailed for Amsterdam to attend an international conference of trade unionists. Since the war started there has not been a meeting of the International Federation of Trades Unions, of which Carl Legien, Berlin, is secretary. It is probable that changing the headquarters and the labor program of the league of nations will be discussed at the Amsterdam meeting.

London, England, July 21—In the annual report of the General Federation of Trade Unions it is stated that "never in the history of the international trade union movement has there appeared so much confusion."

There is a call for one conference representing the trade unions of America, Britain, France, Italy, Spain and Serbia. Another conference includes Germany, Austria, Bulgaria, Holland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark. There have been other conferences called by the parliamentary committee of the British Trades Union Congress and the British Labor party. The report shows that neither of the latter two are connected with the International Federation of Trades Unions, and are "consequently, without jurisdiction."

The report refers to the efforts of the British federation to maintain its economic status and declares that the management committee is agreed with the other members of the International Federation of Trades Unions to keep that organization clear of political control.

"The future for trade unionism is not easy," says the report. "The outlook demands that everyone connected with the trade union movement shall keep it free from complication and that everyone shall endeavor to strengthen its organization and power for defense."

GENERAL STRIKE IN FRANCE CALLED OFF

Paris, July 21—French labor leaders Saturday officially called off the general strike scheduled for today.

Their action was taken after the Chamber of Deputies voted lack of confidence in M. Boret, food minister, which the laborites considered recognition of their protest against the high cost of living. Government efforts for general amnesty and demobilization also influenced their decision.

Boret resigned after the chamber had voted by 227 to 213 an expression of opposition to the government's economic policy, in its relation to high prices. It was not believed today that Premier Clemenceau would regard the vote as an opposition to the entire cabinet, but would merely replace M. Boret.

Set Women's Minimum

Madison, Wis., July 21—The Wisconsin industrial commission has ordered that the minimum wage for experienced women and minor employees over 17 years of age in this state shall be 22 cents an hour.

The order provides for a learning period of six months in all industries. All minors under 16 years of age must be paid not less than 18 cents, and between 16 and 17 years, not less than 20 cents.

The number of employees in any establishment who receive wages below 22 cents an hour, but not including the indentured apprentices, shall not exceed 25 per cent of the total women and minors normally employed. No learning period is recognized for a seasonal industry. Where board or lodging is furnished by the employer as part payment of wages, a reduction in the wage minimum of not more than $4.50 a week for board and $2 for lodging is permitted.

The commission was assisted by an advisory wage board composed of representatives of employers, employees and the public. Over a year ago the state federation of labor and other organizations asked the state commission to set a minimum wage for women and minors. Since that time, it is stated, the commission has been investigating the cost of living. The order is a most sweeping one and applies to every working woman and minor in the state. Even domestic in private homes are included.
